

Software Development

Software development is an allowable cost and may be expended in the period incurred.

