Re: Incident Notification

Dear Sir or Madam:

We write on behalf of our client, Kaplan North America, LLC ("Kaplan"), to notify your office of a cybersecurity event involving Iowa residents.

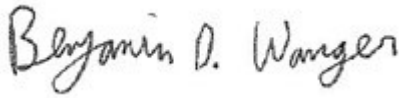
Kaplan recently concluded its investigation of an incident involving unauthorized access to the Kaplan computer network. Upon discovering the incident, Kaplan secured its network and commenced an investigation with assistance from external IT security specialists. Kaplan also alerted law enforcement. The investigation determined that an unauthorized actor accessed Kaplan's computer servers between October 30, 2025 and November 18, 2025 and took certain files. Kaplan reviewed the files involved and, on February 21, 2026, determined that one or more files contained the name, Social Security number, and/or driver's license number of 39,331 Iowa residents.

On March 17, 2026, Kaplan sent notification letters via U.S. First-Class mail to the Iowa residents whose information was contained in the files involved. A copy of the notification letter is enclosed. Kaplan is offering the notified residents one year of complimentary credit monitoring and identity theft restoration services through Experian. Kaplan has also established a toll-free call center to answer questions notified individuals may have.

To help prevent a similar incident from happening again, Kaplan will continue to invest in the security of its computer systems and has implemented additional measures to further enhance the security of the Kaplan IT network.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any questions regarding this matter.

Sincerely,



Benjamin D. Wanger
Partner

Fraud Alerts and Security Freezes

Fraud Alerts: There are two types of general fraud alerts you can place on your credit report to put your creditors on notice that you may be a victim of fraud—an initial alert and an extended alert. You may ask that an initial fraud alert be placed on your credit report if you suspect you have been, or are about to be, a victim of identity theft. An initial fraud alert stays on your credit report for one year. You may have an extended alert placed on your credit report if you have already been a victim of identity theft with the appropriate documentary proof. An extended fraud alert stays on your credit report for seven years.

To place a fraud alert on your credit reports, contact one of the nationwide credit bureaus. A fraud alert is free. The credit bureau you contact must tell the other two, and all three will place an alert on their versions of your report.

For those in the military who want to protect their credit while deployed, an Active Duty Military Fraud Alert lasts for one year and can be renewed for the length of your deployment. The credit bureaus will also take you off their marketing lists for pre-screened credit card offers for two years, unless you ask them not to.

Credit or Security Freezes: You have the right to put a credit freeze, also known as a security freeze, on your credit file, free of charge, which makes it more difficult for identity thieves to open new accounts in your name. That's because most creditors need to see your credit report before they approve a new account. If they can't see your report, they may not extend the credit.

How do I place a freeze on my credit reports? There is no fee to place or lift a security freeze. Unlike a fraud alert, you must separately place a security freeze on your credit file at each credit reporting company. For information and instructions to place a security freeze, contact each of the credit reporting agencies at the addresses below:

- Equifax Security Freeze, PO Box 105788, Atlanta, GA 30348, www.equifax.com
- Experian Security Freeze, PO Box 9554, Allen, TX 75013, www.experian.com
- TransUnion Security Freeze, PO Box 160, Woodlyn, PA 19094, www.transunion.com

You'll need to supply your name, address, date of birth, Social Security number and other personal information.

After receiving your freeze request, each credit bureau will provide you with a unique PIN (personal identification number) or password. Keep the PIN or password in a safe place. You will need it if you choose to lift the freeze.

How do I lift a freeze? A freeze remains in place until you ask the credit bureau to temporarily lift it or remove it altogether. If the request is made online or by phone, a credit bureau must lift a freeze within one hour. If the request is made by mail, then the bureau must lift the freeze no later than three business days after getting your request.

If you opt for a temporary lift because you are applying for credit or a job, and you can find out which credit bureau the business will contact for your file, you can save some time by lifting the freeze only at that particular credit bureau. Otherwise, you need to make the request with all three credit bureaus.
